get a couple of more rows of corn at a hundred bushels per acre, I might bulldoze it out, too, but Senator Nichol says this doesn't happen. Senator Wiltse in southeast Nebraska can tell you it is happening all of the time. As I say, I am not critical of it. The farmer is in the business to make money on a farm and that is his primary interest and I have never been critical of it. I just want to encourage him to leave this stuff if he gets a small tax relief. He doesn't have to take advantage of it. Now, Senator Koch, I am going to reemphasize. I still don't think sometimes you can read correctly, read correctly. Senator Koch brings up...here is what he said. He says a person from town will buy a hundred and sixty acres of land and they will let it grow up in weeds. First let me say there, that is a person's right, if he wants his land to grow up in weeds and he wants to buy a hundred and sixty acres of land and let it grow up in weeds that is his business. He has that right now. But he let's this land grow up in weeds, then it is good hunting, he says. Senator Koch said it is good hunting. Then he charges people to come in there and hunt. What does the word profit mean, Senator Koch? You don't understand the word profit or you wouldn't make such a statement that the person is going to charge people to come in and hunt. He is making a profit, therefore, he wouldn't qualify. In the first place, weeds wouldn't qualify anyhow, if you read the thing. If you read the thing because it says wooded and water. Weeds is not wood and it certainly isn't water. Please read the bill. Thank you.

PRESIDENT: Senator Koch, you have had the floor twice, Senator, so the Chair can't recognize you. For what purpose do you arise?

SENATOR KOCH: I wanted to respond.

PRESIDENT: The Chair has recognized you twice.

SENATOR KOCH: After all, my intelligence has been impugned and I'd say it takes one to know one.

PRESIDENT: That's true. That is very clever, too. Your father's mustache, how about that one. Senator Kime, will you please close debate by way of reply.

SENATOR KIME: Yes, Mr. Chairman, members of this body, there is a lot of questions on this bill that haven't been answered. How long is this going to be tax free? If a man puts it in there for tax reduction, can he take it out again after a couple of years if he wants to use it. That question hasn't been answered. When he does make application, the county assessor is going to say give me the description, give me the section, what township, the number of acres? How is he going to get them if it don't cost him a lot of dough for a surveyor to go out and do that. You can't just go out and look at a puddle and say I want this out of taxation. The county assessor has to have a description. The land will have to be surveyed and it will
